My name is Jeff Thies and I am currently a senior marketing major at the University of Portland. I compete in both cross country and track and field. Born and raised in Huntington Beach, California, I moved to Oregon to run on a top ten team in the nation and be a part of the amazing running community of Portland. I hope to continue a career involved in sports, and with companies like Nike, Adidas, and Under Armor headquartered in Portland. There is no better place to study and train. I am extremely excited to work for the OSAA. I remember my time in high school activities fondly and look forward to helping OSAA offer that to all the Oregon high school students.
